For all the cold rainy season complained of this year, Fulton county orchards that have borne, have given a good crop of apples, while plums and cherries were abundant. The early strawberries were spoiled by the frost but those following were large and luscious. Many of them would have to be quartered to fit any common sized mouth. Reports from different parts of the county of woeful failures in fruit, the first of the season, we feel satisfied with county's blessings.

Some towns are offering the free trip to the best designs plan. The idea for their future growth or development. BAKERY OPENING.

Next Saturday afternoon and evening the South Side Bakery will celebrate its formal opening in its new location on the north side of the Old Peoples Bank building, a selected orchestra will discourse music during the afternoon and evening.

Citizens of Wauseon may well take pride in their new bakery which in every respect conforms to the sanitary laws and regulations of the State Board of Health. The bake room which has been built new for this purpose is 20 by 30 feet with a 12 1/2 foot ceiling lighted from above the floor is hard maple laid on cement and every thing in this room is strictly clean and sanitary. Separate from this main bake room are stock rooms, a dough room and a dressing room with toilet and shower bath in connection. The salesroom, which is located in room formerly occupied by Charles Yeager the tailor, is furnished with modern closed show cases and wall cases, a lunch counter where light "Baker's lunch" will be served. A fine new marble soda fountain equipped with a constant supply of hot and cold water and a very complete set of modern glassware. Both hot and cold drinks of all kinds and ice cream will be served. The floor of the salesroom is covered with linoleum and is also furnished with small tables and chairs for the convenience of customers.

The bakery is open for inspection at all times. There are not many if there are any, towns the size of Wauseon that can boast so complete and thoroughly modern a bakery as the South Side Bakery.

Mr. Robert the proprietor extends a cordial invitation to all to attend his formal opening on Saturday afternoon and evening. When we consider the fact that the City Bakery on North Fulton street and this practically new bakery on South Fulton street it seems to us that Wauseon is extraordinary well furnished with the necessities of civilization and that we have no need to worry about getting our daily bread and getting it clean.

PRINCESS THEATRE. One of the surest ways of impressing historical facts on the minds of readers, students and amusement seekers is through the avenue of romance. The Princess Theatre has recognized this fact is evidenced particularly in his latest big photo drama production "FOR NAPOLEON AND FRANCE", which will be the attraction of the Princess Theatre for one night, two shows commencing Friday night November 5th.

Although replete with spectacular battle scenes that cannot fail to thrill the audience, they but form the background for the romance that predominates. The story of this great photo drama relates that Capt. Larive decorated for valor, a his soldier, the eyes of his country and the favorite of Napoleon, becomes the lion of the French Court—then steeped in immorality where intrigue and falsity were the order of the day.

Madame De Longueville, a court beauty of wondrous charm and a toast not only for France but the entire world, turns his head temporarily by her fascinating smiles. She goes so far as to attempt to induce him to disobey military orders, but an infuriated youth is saved from this desperate situation by the intervention of his sister. Vengeance is then the sole desire of the adventures. Her plans for reprisal are fairly successful and death faces the heroic young soldier. Napoleon's aid is secured through the good offices of the devoted sister of the young captain. His restoration to the favor of the emperor ends his sister's and his long lost father, who, though he knew not, had sentenced his son to death, are dramatically portrayed that bring down the curtain on this charming romance.

CIVIL SERVICE. A number of excellent positions are accessible to residents of Ohio able to secure places on the eligible list examinations conducted by the State Civil Service Commission during the month of November.

The official bulletin calls for examinations for many positions, which do not require technical knowledge, including that of guards for the penitentiary, reformatory, the new Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Lima, and other State institutions. These are splendid and permanent positions for able bodied men. The salary is $800.00 per month with pension when the guards are in honor camps.

Other positions open in the State service are, Claims Examiners, District Deputies, (to be employed in the Division of Revenues and Excise) salary $1,200.00. Examiner of Steam Engineers, salary $1,500.00. Fire Inspectors, salary $1,200.00 per year and expenses. Claims Investigators, and many other good places.

Anyone desiring to participate in these examinations should address the Civil Service Commission at Columbus, securing a copy of the official bulletin, which is mailed free upon request. This gives further information regarding all examinations conducted by the Commission, including the time and place where they will be held.

CORCORAN ART GALLERY. The annual house cleaning at the Corcoran Art Gallery, Washington, will be postponed a week this year to accommodate the Buckeye Corn Belt special party.

Fredrick R. McQuire, Director, The Corcoran Art Gallery, has announced that arrangements have been made to have the gallery open on December 1, when 1500 Ohioans visit Washington. On former tours, the Ohio visitors at Washington were disappointed at finding the Corcoran Art Gallery closed. The first week in December is the usual house cleaning time but this year it has been changed to accommodate the Ohio visitors.

The Drake homestead, beautifully located just south of Fulton, corner Oak street has been placed upon the market for sale. For particulars see M. J. Dangler "your photographer."

"DANCING AROUND" WITH AL JOLSON

"Dancing Around" with Al Jolson, which has been referred to as "the matinee of musical extravaganza,"—a "twelve hour show squeezed into three", with one hundred and twenty-five people and a trainload of scenery, will be the attraction at the Valentine Theatre, Toledo, on Friday and Saturday evenings, and Saturday afternoon November 5th and 6th.

Those who have not seen Al Jolson can have little idea of his extraordinary ability as a comedian. He is the only comic man who has ever risen to stardom who uses black-face. He has been called the "Vesuvius of Vocal Velocity" and "the greatest entertainer in the world." Al Jolson has been the star of five Winter Garden shows, appearing simply as "Gus" but in "Dancing Around" he disguises himself variously as a Hindoo Prince; anon he returns as a Swiss guide, presently he bobs up as a barber, and subsequently he comes forth as Magnessia the Senegambian maid. Jolson was given a part in "Dancing Around" but it was a blank page. He rampages through the story and side-tracks the plot every little while. While Jolson is the star of "Dancing Around" he is not the whole show. In point of fact, "Dancing Around" is the supreme achievement of the Winter Garden in the way of extravaganza. It is said that nothing quite like it has been seen in the way of girls, spectacular effects, dancing and other appurtenances that make up a Winter Garden Show. And this story is as follows: Several young officers at the Army Club induce a pretty actress to telephone Lieutenant Hartley, and make an engagement to meet him at the officer's hall the following evening. He is to know her by means of a half moon beauty mark on her satiny shoulder, and she is to recognize him by a gasp which he is to wear in his buttonhole. The wild blades at the club see to it that each girl present at the ball, except the right one, wears a "recent shaped beauty mark" and the Lieutenant is led a wild chase before he eventually discovers the object of his passion. In the maze of excitement, there is the loss of a pawn ticket which involves everybody concerned. The prima donna of the "Love Token" Company has pledged her voice for two thousand pounds. Her sweetheart gives her an additional thousand pounds and secures the ticket, which he promptly loses. "Gus" (Al Jolson) a colored servant, finds the ticket and sees it after trying unsuccessfully to sell it to the colonel of the regiment. It is eventually found by Lieutenant Hartley, who presents it to the woman he loves, in order that she may sing the prima donna role in "The Love Token" which she has just learned. Her voice lures her rival out of London by means of a fake telegram, but Lieutenant Hartley, accompanied by "Gus" (Al Jolson) pursues her with a special train, and a sensational scene is made when the hero swings the heroine from the rear of the observation car to the pilot of the pursuing locomotive. Yows of true love and a mad carnival scene in Venice cap the long series of climaxes with which "Dancing Around" is filled to repletion.
